Koje Officials Not Prepared, Collins Says

UN Soldiers Needed On Front Lines

Washington, June 12—(AP)—Army leaders have told Congress that one reason for the outbreaks in the seething prisoner-of-war camp on Kojima Island was that not enough U. N. soldiers could be spared from the fighting fronts to maintain order.

This was disclosed today when a House Appropriations subcommittee made public a censored version of testimony taken from Army Secretary Pace and Gen. J. Lawton Collins, army chief of staff, at a closed hearing Monday.

Pace reported that at one time 132,000 Communist prisoners on Kojima were guarded by only a handful of South Korean troops—between 2,500 and 2,800 men, he said, under American supervision.

And Collins testified that camp officials were unprepared for the defiance of 70,000 hard-core Communists in the barbed-wire compounds.

This defiance led to the seizure of Col. (then Brig. Gen.) Francis T. Dodd by a group of fanatic prisoners May 7, and it expanded into a series of bloody riots in the compounds.

But Pace told the investigators that the American Eighth Army had to be prepared first "to meet and match twice its numbers in the Communist horde fighting against it."

Can Ill Spare Men
"We can ill spare the men for jobs other than this critical assignment and still provide a fair rotation of troops which the American people rightly demand," the Army secretary stated.

Last Tuesday 750 battle-seasoned men from the 187th Airborne Regimental combat team had to be used to clear 6,000 Communists from the notorious compound 76. Thirty prisoners were killed and 85 wounded in the melee. One American was killed and 14 wounded.

Monday's proceedings before the subcommittee also brought out that Dodd and Col. (then Brig. Gen.) Charles F. Colson were cleared of any error in the Kojima fiasco by an initial Army board of inquiry.

Pace testified that Gen. Mark Clark, Allied Supreme Commander in the Far East, reviewed the board's findings and recommended that Dodd and Colson be deprived of their one-star rank.

Dodd was commander of the camp when he was kidnapped by its prisoners. Colson succeeded him and effected his release 78 hours later by yielding to Red demands which Clark called "blackmail."

Should Have Known
Rep. Flood (D-Pa.), one of the investigators, told Pace and Collins "you cannot be excused" for concentrating 132,000 prisoners on a single island because "you should have known that conditions would become increasingly and progressively more explosive."

He demanded to know who made the decision, but the testimony released by the subcommittee does not show an answer.

Collins acknowledged that "somebody should have thought of all these details ahead of time."

He went on to explain that the decision was made when "you had a major war on your hands," and when care of a million Korean refugees and other problems pressed on Army officials, Kojima was selected for the prisoners-of-war mainly because it had ample water, he said.

Governor Will Be Drafted, Accept, Lucas Believes

Washington, June 12—(AP)—Former Sen. Scott Lucas said at the White House today he believes Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois will be drafted as the Democratic presidential candidate and will accept.

Lucas, who represented Illinois as a Democrat in the Senate until he was defeated in 1950, made the statement after talking with President Truman.

Ike Opposed Partition Of Germany

New York, June 12—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said today the decision to partition Germany into separate zones of occupation—leaving Berlin cut off inside Russian territory—was taken against his advice.

"That was one of the pieces of advice they didn't accept," he said, having previously stated he offered some other counsel.

The statement was made in a long and searching conference with more than 100 Republican convention delegates and prominent party members from New Jersey.

In the course of the questioning, Eisenhower also said:

1. He would have invoked the Taft-Hartley Act in the steel strike dispute.

2. He considers the seizure of the steel industry by the president to have been illegal.

3. Taking Gen. Matthew Ridgway's conception as his own, he sees no "definite answer" to the problem of ending the war in Korea.

4. He would not favor bombing beyond the Yalu river, the accepted boundary between Chinese-held Manchuria and Korea.

The New Jersey group came to see Eisenhower directly after it had seen Sen. Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, the general's arch rival for the GOP presidential nomination.

This fact was reflected in two ways at the Eisenhower headquarters at Columbia University.

Taft had thrown open his conference to correspondents.

The Eisenhower conference, for the first time, was opened to newsmen.

The delegates asked 14 questions, on Europe, the Far East, internal security, politics, labor legislation, racial affairs—and on recent post-war history.

As he did yesterday when he was talking with the New York state delegation, Eisenhower related many of the domestic problems of the nation to the problem of peace and security.

He said the reduction of taxes and the federal budget depend, in part, on dispelling the fear and possibility of war.

On the suggestion, Wednesday, that the budget might be reduced by 40 billion dollars, he said:

"The question is of peace or war. If we can reach a position of strength and security so that we need not be afraid of war, then we can start cutting back the heavy expenses for military appropriations. Yes, I firmly believe we can get back to that point."

Shelves Seizure Bids, May Demand Use Of T-H

Washington, June 12—(AP)—Congress raised new snags against President Truman's drive for power to seize the strike-crippled steel industry today as the House Banking committee followed the Senate's lead in beating down such a move.

At the same time, the Senate battle over the issue collapsed when last-ditch advocates of presidential seizure authority gave up the fight, at least temporarily. They had been heavily outnumbered since the outset.

The Senate then voted 58 to 18 to pass an economic controls law extension carrying a provision virtually demanding that Truman use the Taft-Hartley law in the steel strike.

Truman has denounced the T-H act as unfair and as probably an ineffective method of trying to settle the steel dispute.

Senator Maybank (D-SC), quarterbacking the pro-seizure forces, indicated that the issue would be side-tracked until late this summer after the July political conventions.

If so, it could mean another long-drawn struggle.

The House Banking committee voted 15 to 10 to reject the first seizure proposal formally raised in that chamber, thereby serving to emphasize the Senate demand that Truman use the Taft-Hartley law's anti-strike provisions to deal with the steel crisis.

Rep. Richard Bolling, a Democrat from Truman's home state of Missouri, brought up the seizure question in the form of an amendment to the House version of legislation to extend the economic controls law.

Ten Republicans and five Democrats teamed up to defeat the move. Nine Democrats and one Republican voted for seizure.

Bolling's amendment duplicated a proposal sponsored by Senator Humphrey (D-Minn.) which the Senate rejected yesterday.

On the Senate floor, a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats again showed the whip hand in discouraging renewed efforts to give Truman authority to seize and operate the strike-closed steel mills.

The same coalition had effectively quashed four previous attempts to enact seizure legislation, rolling up heavy margins in each instance.

But at another point, he said he was sure the army would handle the matter as it should be handled, and added that he was not going to interfere with them.

Mostly, Truman replied to questions with a series of genial no comments.

He wouldn't say, for instance, whether he plans to invoke the Taft-Hartley act in the steel strike, as the Senate has urged him to do, though he did say no when asked if he would use the Selective Service act.

One section of the draft law allows the government to seize a plant which has an order from the government for defense materials and does not produce.

Additionally, he declined direct comment on Gen. Eisenhower's statements regarding cuts in federal expenditures.

A reporter asked:

"Gen. Eisenhower was quoted this morning as saying that 40 billion dollars could be cut out of the budget. Do you agree?"

Truman said with a grin that he thought Sen. Robert A. Taft had answered Eisenhower.

Taft said today such a cut would be impossible, adding that Eisenhower must have been misquoted.

It should be called, Moody said, a bill providing for federal control of mines.

He said it would give the federal government control of the mines and would probably result in more fatal accidents rather than fewer.

But if the bill reaches the house floor, Moody said, many congressmen will vote for it because it has been labeled a mine safety bill.

They won't want to vote against a bill carrying a mine safety label in an election year, he added.

The bill would give the Federal Bureau of Mines authority to close mines in which it finds conditions it believes might lead to danger.

Robert G. Kelly, representing the Kanawha coal operators' association of Charleston, W. Va., said:

"I cannot see how an inspector directed from Washington will be any more efficient than one directed in West Virginia."

T. J. Hoffman, chairman of the board of the Kentucky coal agency at Madisonville, Ky., said the measure would invite friction between federal and state bureaus, and thereby hurt instead of help the cause of safety.

Taft: Outfit S. Korea, Pull UN Troops Out

Keynoter Job Political, HST Tells Press

Washington, June 12—(AP)—President Truman took a hands-off attitude today toward Gen. Douglas MacArthur's delivering the keynote speech at the Republican national convention.

But he left himself leeway to ring the bell on the general later should he wish to do so.

Truman told his news conference he regards the keynote assignment as political.

But on the question of whether army regulations forbid such political activity by a general who hasn't retired, the president said that's the army's baby.

He went on to say, under repeated prodding by correspondents, that he hasn't discussed the matter with army authorities, who have said they plan no action against MacArthur.

Then the president noted that he is commander-in-chief. And he said that if he was not satisfied with what the army heads did, he would call them down. Wait and see, he added.

But at another point, he said he was sure the army would handle the matter as it should be handled, and added that he was not going to interfere with them.

GAMBLERS HOT, OPEN DOOR, POLICE ENTER

Chicago, June 12—(AP)—It was rather muggy in Chicago today.

That's why a door in a store-type building on the west side was left open.

Detective Timothy Allman and his gambling squad peered in. Allman said they heard horse race results coming from a loud speaker and saw betting in progress.

The officers went in. They arrested two men on charges of keeping a gambling house.

Twenty-seven other men got rides to the Detective Bureau in four paddy wagons. No charges were placed against them immediately.

Fighting Pace Steps Up In Korean Battles

Seoul, Friday, June 13—(AP)—U. S. 45th division troops inflicted heavy casualties tonight and early today in a raising see-saw battle with Chinese Communist troops for a hill position on the western front.

The battle was one of the most hard fought since November when the so-called twilight war began.

The Reds made two determined attacks during the night but infantrymen of the former Oklahoma National Guard division clung stubbornly to a southern knob of the hill mass, west of Chorwon.

Neither Eighth army sources nor Allied officers at the front could estimate immediately the size of the Chinese forces or give an accurate count of casualties, but they were believed heavy.

As the fighting pace stepped up along the front, Field Marshal Lord Alexander, Britain's defense minister, and Gen. Mark Clark, Supreme Allied Commander, arrived in Korea from Tokyo. They were met by Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth army commander, and went immediately to his headquarters.

Furious fighting also broke out on the central front southeast of Kumsong. Allied troops with flamethrowers drove about 100 Chinese from bunkers. They reported 200 of the Reds were casualties.

In this grim maneuvering for better tactical positions in the event of a Chinese offensive, the Allies called in the air force from its major task of smashing Communist supply lines and bases.

Waves of fighter-bombers roared down on the Chinese from dawn to dusk.

Allied pilots still found time to stage a heavy raid on a Red supply base on the nearby Haeju peninsula. Pilots reported they destroyed 34 storage buildings and damaged 12 more.

The Allies won the knob west of Chorwon after 14 hours of attack and Red counter attack.

Eighth army headquarters made no estimate of the number of Chinese casualties.

Honor U of I Man For Agricultural Service To Nation

Chicago, June 12—(AP)—Dean H. P. Rusk of the College of Agriculture at the University of Illinois, a university staff member for 42 years, was honored tonight for service to "agriculture in Illinois and the nation."

The entire dinner program of the 29th annual meeting of the National Livestock and Meat Board was devoted to recognition of Rusk's accomplishments. Among the speakers were Jay Taylor of Amarillo, Tex., chairman of the board; Dean H. H. Kildee of Iowa State college, Ames, Ia.; Charles P. Shuman of Chicago, president of the Illinois Agricultural association; and R. C. Pollock of Chicago, general manager of the board.

At the board's annual meeting today, reports of staff members placed Iowa, top-ranking state in corn production, in first place in meat production last year.

Iowa and Illinois rank high in meat output because of their record as pork-producing states, according to the staff reports. The ranks were based on live weight figures of farm production of meat animals. More than a third of the nation's pork was produced in these two states last year, the reports added.

FRANCE HAS RADAR FROM CHANNEL TO SWITZERLAND
Paris, June 12—(AP)—Defense Minister Rene Pleven told the National Assembly today France now has a radar network ready to function without a break from the English channel to Switzerland.

He made the revelation while answering criticisms raised during week-long debate on the French military budget, and added: "Nothing of the sort existed two years ago."

Ike Tells N.J. Delegates Same Thing

New York, June 12—(AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft said today the United Nations should pull its troops out of Korea as soon as the South Koreans can be outfitted for fighting.

Meanwhile, he suggested we "drag our feet" in the Korean truce talks until American arms production gets rolling at a speed necessary to outfit South Korean forces.

Taft said bombing of China above the Yalu river would have worked a year ago when it was favored by Gen. Douglas MacArthur. Now it's too late, he added, because the Reds have too much land and air superiority.

The Ohio Republican, in a whirlwind invasion of generally pro-Eisenhower territory here, found himself more or less in agreement with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower on the Korean issue.

At about the same time Taft was outlining his views in a recorded radio interview for tomorrow morning, Eisenhower was saying much the same thing to a visiting group of New Jersey GOP delegates.

Taft flew in last night for a one-day visit here.

He spent a part of the day trying to make hay with the strongly pro-Eisenhower Jersey delegation.

An Associated Press tabulation shows six Jersey delegates for Taft and 13 for Eisenhower.

Ike Talks To Delegates
Eisenhower also talked to the New Jersey delegates in a private conference during the day.

While Taft and Eisenhower were in agreement on the Korean war, they were far apart on some other issues.

Eisenhower was quoted by visiting delegates yesterday as saying the federal budget could be cut from 80 billion dollars to 40 billion over the next two or three years.

"General Eisenhower must have been misquoted," Taft told New Jersey delegates.

Taft said he just didn't see how it is possible to reduce federal spending below about $5 billion. If elected, he added, he'll aim for a 60 billion budget first, then a 53 billion one.

Talks On Foreign Policy
The campaigning Ohioan dealt at some length with foreign policy, outside Korea. He saw no alternative but to rearm Western Germany "to some extent."

"We should have set up a police force in Western Germany in direct proportion to the Eastern Germany police force," he went on, "instead of creating a vacuum there as we now have."

"Then we wouldn't have had the problem we have now."

It's too early, he said, to tell whether a European army will work. He favored giving arms to friendly nations "such as the French and the Chinese Nationalists." But he couldn't see lending them divisions of American troops which he said would be overrun in any Russian assault.

BIRDS IN A NET

Newspapers and magazines are blossoming out in ads of a new and eye-catching sort. They are the advertisements of auto and tire makers. These firms do not plug their products in these carefully prepared and illustrated ads. They are plugging—as one says—"for streets and highways adequate to meet our traffic needs."

Naturally self-interest is apparent in a tire or automobile company's advocacy of better roads. And what is more sensible than a plea by such firms for planning to keep cars and trucks rolling? These ads are in effect, editorials on a subject of vital concern to all.

"Most of our present highways," says Harvey S. Firestone, Jr., "were designed and built when car speeds were low, when truck loads were light, and when the volume of motor travel was small. Twenty-five years ago there were only 20,000,000 motor vehicles. Today there are nearly 52,000,000. Yet during the past quarter of a century little has been done to expand our highway system to keep pace with the growth in traffic volume."

And again: "In many of our large cities traffic is so heavy that it is sometimes faster to walk than to ride." That need not be limited to cities. Many motorists have had the experience of making good progress on the comparatively few really modern highways, only to be caught like birds in a net as soon as they are deployed onto older roads.

HIGH COST OF MARRIAGE

An Oklahoma woman has brought suit for divorce on the unusual and somewhat alarming plea that marriage is too expensive. She explodes the old theory that two can live as cheaply as one, a time-honored belief that has encouraged many marriages.

The woman's husband's pay as an Army officer is $5,000 a year, which, she says, is wholly inadequate. As a result life is just one financial worry after another, and she has gone back to mother. The husband says his wife spends more than he can scrape up.

Marriage frequently is not a cooperative undertaking, with both parties joining in an effort to make it a success through denial of luxuries. Too many couples try to keep pace with a society which goes in for frivolity, regardless of the cost.

Sociologists say too many marriages are lightly entered into. There is a more serious aspect to the situation, however. Alimony is, in effect, a life pension after a short trial marriage. Hasty marriages, easy divorces, are threatening the very foundation of orderly society.

THE RESTFUL SEVERN

Appointment of Vice Admiral C. Turner Joy as superintendent of the U. S. Naval Academy has been confirmed by the Senate. A senior naval officer who is appointed head at Annapolis enters a period of Indian summer. He returns once more to the playing fields and scenes that he cherished during a quarter century of duty ashore and afloat.

The job is no sinecure. Because it is close to the nation's capital, the academy is the showcase for the methods this country uses to train its military professionals. More often than not the grand tour of some VIP from abroad includes a visit there. Generally, though, life is restful on the Severn.

History may record that Admiral Joy didn't use the right approach in his dealings with the communist truce negotiators. If this comes to pass, it will be a surprise to most Americans, many of whom never heard of C. Turner Joy until pictures of him striding grimly from the truce tent at Pannunjom became a familiar sight in newspapers.

Probably no one will know the extremes of self-discipline to which the admiral steered himself in his contacts with the cynical, contemptuous enemy representatives with whom he had to deal.

The man the Navy picks to head its training school is always a top officer who is several years away from retirement. It is a coveted billet, for it permits a man to taper off his career in the most pleasant surroundings. Wandering whether any of his upperclassmen are sneaking over the yard wall will be a long step from the frustrations of Admiral Joy's recent duties.

Boyle's Column

DADDY GOES A-FISHING
—AND SO DOES MAMA!

New York—P—Millions of American husbands are going forth now to ply the nation's streams with rod and reel.

Just why is beyond me. Women are highly practical creatures, and if there is anything more impractical than dangle a line in a stream and waiting around for a fish to bite on its please name it, I can't.

Men know that fishing is an illogical business, of course, and that is why it has appealed to them for centuries. They enjoy romantic nonsense and always have. The more senseless a thing is the greater appeal it has for many men.

Fishing is a perfect escape from reality for them, a chance to day-dream under a summer sun, and a fishing party made up of the right kind of fellows never even bothers to drop a hook into the water at all. They get out the jug and the cards and settle down happily to the real purpose of the trip.

Who really wants to catch a fish anyway? If you do, you have to carry it home, clean it, a messy job—and stow it in the refrigerator, where it smells up the rest of the food. If you hook a record size fish, the taxidermist charges you $42.50 to stuff it. You hang it on the wall then, where it catches dust until the day it falls off and conks one of your children on the head.

The entrance of women into fishing has changed it from an individual manly sport into a family industry. Papa may not care a hang whether he catches what is called a piscatorial prize, but mama does. She didn't go all that distance for nothing. She wants to bring something home.

She goes about the task as grimly as if her husband was a bachelor again.

One veteran has a theory also why women often turn out to be better anglers than their husbands. He told me:

"A woman drops in her line and the fish swims up, looks at it and sneers," he said. "Then he looks up through the water and sees staring down at him some frizzle-haired monster overflowing a pair of blue jeans. She is wearing dark goggles and her nose is covered with lumps of sunburn cream."

"The fish breaks out laughing. 'No, ho, ho!' This is something the other fish ought to see. He opens his mouth, and turns his head to call his buddies—and accidentally the hook swings into his mouth."

"I suppose a million fish a year are caught just that way."

★ DR. JORDAN SAYS ★

Take Care to Avoid Diseases
Carried to Humans by Pets

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

A letter from Mrs. R. H. raises a point. She says that her eight-year-old daughter has been found to have intestinal worms and wonders whether the young tomcat they have could be responsible.

"I do not believe my daughter got her worms from the cat," Mrs. H. says, "but when she is home she is forever carrying him around and kissing him. Can he re-infect her, or am I worrying needlessly?"

This raises the interesting question as to what diseases, if any, can be spread by household pets. So far as cats are concerned, it is known that various kinds of ringworms can be contracted from these animals, and it is also known that one investigator found 37 kinds of worms in cats, a number of which are able to infect human beings.

This shows that it is possible for a youngster to become infested with worms and certainly the practice of kissing or nuzzling these animals increases the danger.

Another disease which cats can occasionally transmit to human beings is known as cat-scratch disease, or cat-scratch fever.

Rabies, or hydrophobia, has been found occasionally in cats, and a cat stricken with this disease is a serious menace to human beings. Tuberculosis is not common among cats, and there appear to have been few cases of human tuberculosis contracted in this manner.

In mentioning these diseases which can be transmitted by cats, I do not mean to imply that these animals are a danger around the house, since hundreds of thousands of people have cats as pets and never acquire any disease from them.

The same kind of problem exists with regard to dogs. Dogs harbor a great many animal parasites, although only a few of them can cause human infection. Occasionally a dog tapeworm can be acquired from dogs by swallowing an infected flea.

Keep Dogs Off Beaches
A skin condition called creeping eruption caused by a small worm, closely related to hookworm, infects many dogs. It passes directly through the skin and therefore dogs should be kept off bathing beaches where people go barefooted.

Animals should not be allowed to bite or scratch. People should not let them lick the face, particularly the mouth, and should wash the hands after handling them and before eating.

Kissing animals is unwise. These precautions should be followed and pets showing signs of illness should be taken promptly to the veterinarian.

Man Resented Women in His World, but Look at Him Now

Just a few years ago the men were hollering loud and long about the way women were invading their world. They hollered out in resentment because women had moved in and made themselves at home in bars, barber-shops, golf clubs, etc.

All their private masculine worlds were being overrun by women and they didn't like it at all.

But they haven't let out a peep about the way men are now invading women's private domain, her kitchen, where for centuries she has been queen bee.

Now as likely as not, when you're invited to the Joneses for an evening meal, it will be a barbecue with Mr. Jones wearing a chef's cap, presiding over the short ribs and talking knowingly about how he mixed this sauce or dreamed up that salad.

When a man fancies himself a cook, his wife is relegated to a back seat in her own kitchen.

GLORY NOW GOES TO THE MAN OF THE HOUSE
Her job is to prepare in advance and fetch and carry and wash up and straighten the kitchen, but the glory goes to the man of the house. He takes the bows.

Now one man, at least, has gone too far in usurping his wife's rights in her own household.

A wife was recently granted a divorce from her husband on the grounds that he had taken over her role of housewife, insisting on doing all the marketing and cooking himself.

His explanation to the judge, that he felt he was a much more efficient housekeeper than his wife, didn't carry any weight in court.

Said the judge: "By long custom it is the wife's duty and the wife's privilege to run the house."

So with a legal decision on our side, perhaps we women will have better luck in keeping the men from taking over in our private world than they had in keeping us out of theirs.

The World
Today

BY JAMES MARLOW

Washington, June 12—P—While the steel strike goes on the president and Congress play bean-bag. The president tosses the strike problem to Congress. Congress tosses it back.

The president's plea to Congress was: Give me a law that can do something about a strike. So far the reaction seems to be: Stew in your own juice; you already have a law.

The president could use the Taft-Hartley Act, which is supposed to stop a strike for 80 days but it is questionable whether the steelworkers, already on strike, would go back now even if ordered.

But Truman says he doesn't like T-H. He says it's a poor way to solve the problem. Philip Murray doesn't like T-H either. He's president of the striking CIO steelworkers and a political ally of Truman.

So Truman suggests Congress pass a brand new piece of legislation, giving him authority to seize the steel mills, just as he did without law before the supreme court told him last week to give them back.

But Congress, or those members of it who disagree with him or don't like him or don't like labor unions, have him over a bit of a barrel. Since T-H does exist and hasn't been tried they can tell him to try it before coming to them.

If Truman had played this scene differently in the beginning—by using T-H when a steel strike was first threatened last Jan. 1—he'd have had Congress over a barrel.

If he had used T-H, of course, there's no telling how badly this might have fractured his friendship with Murray or how many labor votes it might have cost the Democrats.

If he had used T-H back in January to delay the strike 80 days, once that time was up and there was no settlement, the workers could have struck. There was no other law to stop or delay them further.

In that case Truman could have gone to Congress and said: See, T-H didn't work, so give me a law that will.

If the strike continues much longer and Congress still won't bail him out, Truman probably will have to use T-H to try to get the workers back on the job.

At the end of the 80 days, if there was still no settlement, the workers could walk out again, that time with nothing to stop them unless Congress passed some new law.

Montana in Stew Over Radical
Workmen's Compensation Bill

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Helena, Mont.—(NEA)—Montana has a red-hot political issue on the ballot this November in which there is more local interest than who gets elected President. It is a petition for a new workmen's compensation law that would outdo compulsory health insurance and make Britain's cradle-to-grave welfare state tame by comparison.

Opponents of the Montana petition say it might easily bankrupt the state, if approved by the voters and enacted into law. The issue has national interest in that, if Montana adopts it, other states might follow suit.

Athorship of the Montana petition is attributed to Jerry O'Connell. He may be remembered as a Washington state congressman for a brief but hectic career and as the author of a Washington state old-age pension law that almost bankrupted that state, until it was repealed.

O'Connell is now practicing law in Great Falls, Mont. He is a pillar in the tottering structure of what's left of Henry Wallace's Progressive Party of 1948.

For this workmen's compensation initiative petition, O'Connell has the support of the Montana state AFL and CIO organizations. They are operating from Progressive Party headquarters at Great Falls.

Montana miners may have a legitimate demand for revision of the existing workmen's compensation law. Some mine safety experts say it does not give adequate protection for injury from silicosis, the lung disease contracted from inhaling mine or quarry dust.

PETITIONS DYNAMITE NOT IN THE TITLE
The O'Connell proposed law, however, mentions silicosis only once, in the title. It reads:

"An act transferring the burden of payments to those suffering from silicosis from the people of the State of Montana to the industries responsible therefore making occupational diseases compensable under the workmen's compensation act."

The title then goes on to provide for "increasing compensation for injuries to workmen in cases of temporary total disability, total permanent disability, permanent partial disability for injuries causing death and for specified injuries."

It would remove "the limitation on the amount allowed for medical and hospital services and other treatment for injured workmen; and for other purposes."

Any citizen approached to sign a petition, reading the above title and no further, might be inclined to approve it.

The dynamite is contained in four wide and long columns of fine type making up the text of the bill, which few people have bothered to read. Newspapers and various civic groups alerted to the dangers of the O'Connell bill are now conducting an educational campaign against it through an industrial health committee.

An injury is first defined as any occupational disease or infection arising out of employment and it would entitle an employee to compensation even if any other illness was aggravated by the injury, years later, just as though it was the sole cause of subsequent illness or death.

The employer who had last hired the workman under conditions where he was exposed to a hazard, would be held liable for the injury. This liability would run for 20 years.

BENEFITS MIGHT RUN INSURANCE COMPANIES
This interpreted to mean that if a workman employed in a mine in 1953 left that job in 1954 and took up employment as a clerk, the employing mine operator might be held responsible if this ex-employee contracted tuberculosis in 1972.

An employee discharged because he had a non-occupational disease would be entitled to $5000 compensation.

For an employer to refuse to hire a workman having a non-occupational disease would be made illegal and subject to $5000 compensatory damages.

An employee sustaining temporary total disability would be entitled to $20-a-week minimum to $38-a-week maximum for 300 weeks, which is roughly six years. Compensation would vary according to wage scale and number of dependents.

For occupational injury causing deaths, benefits of from $20 a week to $38 a week until the widow or widower died or remarried, or until all minor dependents reached age 18.

All hospitalization and medical costs would have to be paid by the employer for injuries resulting from industrial injury.

For specific injuries resulting from industrial accidents, compensation would vary from 250 weeks—five years—for loss of an arm or near the shoulder, to four weeks for loss of a finger or toe at the first joint.

Insurance companies providing group coverage for an employer's working force say these benefits would soon drive them out of business or cause premiums so high no employer could pay them.

WHAT'S RIGHT

Friends who have a television set knowing that you do not have one ask if you would like to come to their house to watch television for an evening? You aren't at all interested.

WRONG: Feel that you must go and act enthusiastic even though you actually don't care for television.

RIGHT: Say frankly that you just aren't a television fan. That will not only save you from suffering through one evening—but from other such evenings in the future.

PEAS FOR THE FREEZER
TAKE QUICK HANDLING

Get those early spring peas into the freezer while they're tender and sweet—before they become starchy and old.

Peas frozen without blanching develop off odors and flavors and lose color and vitamin C content rapidly.

Work with small quantities. Blanch one pound of peas in three quarts of boiling water for one minute. Cool the blanched peas quickly in cold running or iced water. Drain, then quickly package and seal in air-tight containers.

Get peas into the freezer immediately after packaging, or take them to the locker as soon as possible. If they stand at room temperature for any length of time, they lose sugar.

Some good varieties of peas for freezing are large podded little Marvel, Frostie, Asgrow 40 and Little Marvel. In general, any variety that is good as freshly cooked fresh peas is satisfactory for freezing, with the exception of varieties developed especially for canning.

SALADS FOR VARIETY
Salads can be as simple as a bowl of crisp greens tossed with dressing, or they can be elaborate molded concoctions served with complicated dressings.

You can use salads for a first course, a main course for luncheon or dinner, or as a salad for dinner. Any fruit, vegetable, meat or meat substitute can be made into an attractive, nutritious and satisfying salad.

A University of Illinois College of Agriculture publication, Salads for Variety, gives some general rules for preparing salads. It points out that they are most pleasing when they've been combined with a thought to contrast in color, flavor and texture. The publication also contains recipes for French dressing and mayonnaise and their variations. Write for your copy of "Salads for Variety" to the Home Bureau Office in Jacksonville, Illinois.

FREEZE SURPLUS EGGS

If you'll store your surplus eggs in the freezer now, they'll come in handy when egg production drops during the hot summer months.

To prepare egg yolks, separate them from the whites; then break the yolks and stir slightly with a fork. Strain them through a sieve to remove bits of membrane. If you plan to use the yolks in a recipe with sugar, add one tablespoon of sugar to each cup of yolks. For other uses, leave out the sugar and add one teaspoon of salt to each cup of egg yolks.

To prepare whole eggs for freezing, break the yolks, stir slightly and strain the whole egg through a sieve. Then mix with a teaspoon of salt or 1½ teaspoons of sugar, depending upon how you plan to use the eggs.

To freeze egg whites, simply separate the whites from the yolks, place them in air-tight moisture proof cartons and freeze immediately.

KITCHI-TI-KI-PI

WHEN THE OJIBWAY INDIANS first saw the "magic" spring in what now is the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, they called it "Kitchi-ti-ki-pi," which has been translated into everything from "big, cold water," to the more romantic "I love you." Whatever the meaning of the name, there's no doubt about the spring's drawing power as a tourist attraction. The waters of the spring have exceptional magnifying powers and a shiny coin dropped into the 40-foot pool can be seen as clearly on the bottom as when it started downward. When winter comes, the spring doesn't freeze over, but remains as clear and cool as in summer. Fifteen erupting streams send water splashing into the spring at the rate of 14,000 gallons a minute. Tourists ride across the spring on a raft which has open portals to give a view of the bottom. The spring is in Schoolcraft county, 14 miles from Manistique, Mich.

If a guide is not on hand, the tourist is able to operate the raft by pulling on its handle.

Youngsters and adults alike drop coins into the clear water and watch them on the bottom.

Horace H. Arnold Elected President Of New District

At an organization meeting of the newly elected board of education for Community Unit School District No. 11, Horace H. Arnold of Meredosia was elected president. Upon his election Arnold, who is the station agent for the Wabash Railroad, took the chair from the temporary chairman, Allen Chrisman, and presided for the remainder of the meeting.

The meeting was held in the Meredosia grade school early this week. The board members were chosen by the voters of District No. 11, which was created this spring from territory in western Morgan, eastern Pike and southern Cass counties. The election of the board occurred Saturday.

A. H. Unland of Meredosia, assistant superintendent of schools in Morgan county, was appointed secretary of the new board. According to the state school code, the president must be a voting member of the board, but the secretary need not be a member. Unland is not on the board.

The board members drew lots to determine the length of their initial terms. Horace Arnold and Boid B. Metz, Chambersburg, drew one-year terms; Fred Vortman, Chapin and Allen Chrisman, Meredosia, drew two-year terms; and Gerald E. Dugan of Chambersburg, Lew W. Cummings of Chambersburg, and Robert W. Lansink, Bluffs, received three-year terms.

The state law requires staggered three-year terms for the seven-member board of education of community unit districts. It was therefore necessary that four members serve shortened terms in the original organization.

The new board announced that applications will be taken at a meeting Monday night at the Meredosia grade school for the post of superintendent of the new district. Plans for the selection of a superintendent will be mapped out at the meeting.

The board also offered contracts to janitors of school buildings in the new district. Grade schools are located at Meredosia and Chambersburg and a high school at Meredosia.

John C. Deem, superintendent of Morgan county schools, under whom the jurisdiction of the new district falls, addressed the meeting when it was called to order. He complimented the board on its excellence and outlined its duties. He turned over the gavel to Allen Chrisman after the latter's selection as temporary chairman.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

Chicago, June 12—(P)—Most hog sales regained another 25 cents of Tuesday's dollar plunge today on a new shrinkage in the supply. Cattle carried a split trend, young beef kinds going steady to 25 cents higher and aged material steady to 50 cents lower. Sheep were steady to weak.

While one load of choice sorted barrows and gilts topped at $21.35, most of that division fell into a $19.00 to $21.25 range. Sows took $16.25 to $18.50.

Arrivals were estimated at 7,500 hogs. Traders had anticipated 9,000. One price retardant, in spite of the relative scarcity of numbers, was the much smaller buying done by outside order fillers. Clearance was obtained early, however.

A few offerings of choice and prime steers, heifers, and yearlings sold from $32 to $35 and commercial to low-choice grades were $27 to $31.75. Otherwise the small cattle run consisted of cows at $25 downward, bulls at $28 and below, and weaners at a $37 top.

Good to choice spring lambs sold at $28 to $30.50, topping at $31. Fed lambs graded no better than good and brought $25 and less. Ewes were mostly $11.50 downward.

Other receipts included 1,800 cattle, 600 calves, and 600 sheep on the salable estimates.

MOST GRAINS ADVANCE ON BOARD OF TRADE

Chicago, June 12—(P)—Most grains advanced while soybeans faltered on the Board of Trade today. Oats scored the biggest upturn.

Soybeans moved up in the early dealings and at one time the July contract reached $3.32, only 1 cent under the OPS ceiling which has not been touched since last May. But heavy profit-taking forced beans back and they dropped under the previous close.

Commission houses and local traders bought oats which enjoyed gains extending to more than 2 cents at one time. The Agriculture Department is investigating the oats market and some traders felt this might put a halt to the heavy movement of Canadian oats here.

Corn followed oats higher while wheat's advance was small in view of the expanding harvest and heavy arrivals at southwestern terminals. End Oklahoma, received 745 cars of wheat.

Preliminary estimated receipts of grain in carlots: wheat 1, corn 157, oats 8, rye 4, barley 14, and soybeans 23.

Improvements in the Beardstown section of the Illinois river and in the Sny drainage district in Adams and Pike counties must wait until "a change in the existing critical situation permits a relaxation of present restrictive policies regarding civil works."

This decision was contained in a letter written by President Truman to Congressman Sid Simpson of Carrollton this week.

The text of the letter follows: THE WHITE HOUSE Washington June 9, 1952

My dear Mr. Simpson: Receipt is acknowledged of your letter dated April 26, 1952, in which you refer to my request to the Senate Appropriations Committee for the restoration of certain House cuts in the Civil Functions, Department of the Army Appropriation Bill, and request that funds for the Beardstown and Sny Basin projects be included.

Facing the necessity of balancing the long-term objectives for the development of our natural resources with the needs of the defense emergency, many projects had to be postponed in formulating the budget for the fiscal year 1953 in order to meet current defense requirements. New starts were limited to urgently needed power projects in critical short-range areas, flood control projects in the Kansas-Missouri area, and emergency rehabilitation works which cannot be deferred. For these reasons the flood control projects for Beardstown and Sny Basin, Illinois, were not included in the 1953 budget. Consequently no funds for these projects are involved in the cuts made by the House or in the requested restoration.

I feel sure that you will appreciate the fact that there are numerous areas in the United States in addition to the Missouri River basin that are sorely in need of flood protection but the requests for financing activities and projects during the fiscal year 1953 far exceed our financial ability.

Your interest in effecting the initiation and completion of the Sny Basin and Beardstown projects is appreciated and you can rest assured that careful consideration will be given your request when a change in the existing critical situation permits a relaxation of present restrictive policies regarding civil works.

Sincerely Yours,

/s/ Harry Truman

Salvation Army's Activities Give Feeling Of Belonging

Editor's Note—This is the last in a series of three articles describing the activities of the Salvation Army and its need for a new building. A campaign for funds is now underway.

By Charles Bruce

There's the babble of excited voices, whispers, giggles. There's the harmony of clear fresh voices raised in song.

There's the feeling of "belonging" to God and being close to Him.

Here are the sympathetic understanding—the practical help—the teachings made possible to them—and children and grown-ups alike cherish every moment of it.

This is nothing out of a book. This is something out of the day-by-day workings of the Salvation Army right here in Jacksonville.

This is about those special Salvation Army programs and what is done to offer help practically and spiritually.

It's an impressive sight, those daily children gatherings in which over 150 boys and girls ranging from 6 to 16 are enrolled. Gone is the "mischievous look" and in its place is one of rapt attention.

Every day there are scheduled programs in the building on East Beecher avenue.

No Room For More

There are the singing rehearsals and Bible study for the children. But because there isn't enough room and the quarters are cramped, these youth activities have had to be curtailed and regrouping of the children into eight different sections was necessary. In fact the Army officials would welcome more within their doors, but there just isn't room or the facilities.

Then there are the handicraft classes and how the children love that part of the program. There is always the babble of excited voices that really bubbles over.

It's sheer inspiration to watch these children at work. Their little fingers awkward and heavy at first, then slowly becoming more deft and easy, with delighted grins spreading over their faces as the little dolls or animals made from cardboard take shape. They have even found a use for empty spoons.

Mothers Help

Then too there is the "quilting circle" and sewing program for the mothers and much practical help is given and found there. Clothing which is presented to the Salvation Army is repaired before being distributed. Layettes have been prepared; quilts made; little boys suits, little girls dresses, tea towels and pot holders have been fashioned by the busy hands of these women.

They declare, emphatically, that their fingers fly faster at this particular time because their minds and hearts are brought to the spiritual understanding of the Salvation Army.

Stymied By Space

Major Henri Servais, director for the Salvation Army in Jacksonville when asked about the programs said: "If we only had more room. There are so many things we want to do but just aren't able to because there just isn't enough space. We would like to start a youth guidance program. But what older boy or girl would be interested in such an activity in an old crowded basement room where their mothers are sewing and their younger children are playing. No—what we need is a playground with a basketball court and an indoor baseball diamond—then we can really go to work on this delinquency problem."

"I wish everyone in Jacksonville and Morgan county would visit us and see for themselves how badly we need a new building."

Patriotic Play Follows DAR Colonial Supper

The tale of Mistress Betsy Ross and her contribution to a new land was told in a one act play, "Our First Flag," after a colonial supper held Thursday evening by the Rev. James Caldwell chapter of the D.A.R. New officers were installed at the meeting in the chapter house.

Red candles and a bouquet of garden flowers decorated the dining table, where members and guests were seated at 6 p.m. Mrs. Gross, regent of the Springfield chapter, and Mrs. Morgan, its treasurer, were in attendance. Mrs. J. H. Hubbs poured.

The regent of the local chapter, Mrs. Willard, presented a past regent, Mrs. Baxter, who conducted the installation. Mrs. Paul E. Grabill assumed the duties of regent; Miss Maude Ryman, recording secretary; Miss Mabel Withee, treasurer; and Miss Bertha Mason, chaplain.

Take Part In Play

When the summer of 1776 was portrayed in the play, the role of General George Washington was filled by Margaret Faye Hopper. The part of Betsy Ross was taken by Mrs. Paul Black; Robert Morris, John Randolph; Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. Herbert Capps; Mrs. Van Meter, Mrs. Don Ransdell; and Mary, Carmen Olsen.

The first scene was set in Philadelphia, at the home of the famous seamstress.

"Liberty Enlightening the World" was the title of the second scene. Mildred Brown portrayed Liberty. "After the defeat of France in the War of 1870," the audience was told, "an Alsatian sculptor, Frederick Auguste Bartholdi, visited America and was fired by the democratic idealism of our young country, then nearing its first century of hard-won independence. Bartholdi was commissioned to construct a statue as a lasting token of French-American friendship."

Methodist Conference Meets At Bloomington

Bloomington—Dr. Harold A. Bosley, pastor of the First Methodist church at Evanston, presented the annual conference lecture at Wesley Methodist church in Bloomington Wednesday evening. His address, "What Makes the Church Great," was delivered to the Illinois Methodist Conference which convened here this week.

"Vital religion cannot avoid the great issues of the day," he said. "It is the business of the church to be concerned about the problems of people." He further stated that the secret of greatness in the church is a gospel which must be preached with intellectual and moral honesty, with courage and compassion, and that these ideals must be found in the new as well as the pulpit.

Rev. Harry J. Harwood, 30 years a Methodist missionary in Burma, spoke for the board of missions and church extension to the members of the Illinois Conference. He stated that a long, long night of history known by a few now is being shared by millions for the first time.

Dr. J. B. Ford, minister of the First Methodist church at Galesburg and president of the directorate of public relations of the conference, stated in his report that "The Illinois Conference was the first in Methodism to establish a program of public relations, and its rapid development during the last three years has gained attention throughout the church."

Complete Uruguay Project

He stressed that the splendid results of the work of the public relations director, Dr. Howard B. Oborn, had stimulated giving to the Advance for Christ and His Church movement, to complete the $100,000 Friendship Home project in Montevideo, Uruguay. A total of $200,000 was contributed.

Pastors will assist each other in evangelism in the local churches, continuing the plan of last year, stated Rev. Eugene Darling, pastor of the Bradley Methodist church and conference secretary of the board of evangelism, in presenting the board's report. Exchange of pastors for evangelistic purposes will be carried on between the north and south halves of the conference.

The challenging address of the inspirational hour in the afternoon was by Dr. Gerald O. McCulloh, professor of theology at Garrett Biblical Institute, Evanston. "If the church is to escape being bound within her own tradition," he said, "She must keep sensitive to the freedoms of God's Spirit bearing testimony with her institutional life."

To Hold Fund Campaign

A campaign for $1,175,000 for the Methodist Ministers Pension Fund was announced Thursday during the conference session. An every-member canvass will be conducted in each church for the fund. Rev. John Andrew Smith of Decatur has been appointed director of the campaign and Charles Shuman, president of the Illinois Agricultural association, has been named lay chairman.

Mrs. Harold W. Fitch of Bushnell, conference president of the Women's Society of Christian Service, reported that $2,779,446 has been raised by the women of Methodism for foreign work and $2,339,902 for home missions. Nine new missionaries have been sent from the Illinois Conference during the past four years.

An interesting sidelight on her report was that a ton of cookies has been sent by the societies to the Cunningham Children's Home at Urbana.

Elmer Jolly of Peoria was reelected to serve as conference lay leader for another year.

MODERN WAY TO GIVE ASPIRIN TO YOUR CHILD

District Leaders Announced By Bishop Magee

"There are four attitudes which may become militant forces against the Christian faith in the world," So stated Dr. L. G. Jacobs representing the General Board of Evangelism of the Methodist church before the opening session Tuesday evening of the Illinois Conference meeting in Wesley Methodist church, Bloomington, Illinois, this week.

Basing his message on portions of the 18th chapter of Luke's Gospel, Dr. Jacobs defined these attitudes as spiritual laziness, self-righteousness, real disregard of childhood's relationship to the Kingdom of God, and withholding one self from making one self an asset to the realization of the Kingdom of God on earth.

What is needed to counteract these attitudes, he stated, is an attitude of spiritual abandonment to the claims of the Christian faith, believing in its triumph.

The Tuesday evening program featured also the formal opening, rollcall, and organization of the Illinois Conference representing 700 Methodist churches from some 45 counties of Central Illinois. Dr. E. L. Atherton, pastor of Wesley church, welcomed the ministers and lay delegates on behalf of the church, and James H. Parsons, president of the Association of Commerce, extended the greetings of the two new district superintendents were appointed by Bishop Magee and announced Tuesday evening. Dr. Walter F. Day, pastor of the Grace Methodist church, Decatur, was appointed to succeed Dr. J. Fred Melvin on the Bloomington District, and Rev. Charles B. Wagner of Pontiac, to succeed Dr. Paul M. Curry in the Galesburg district.

The district superintendents' report was read Wednesday morning by Dr. Paul M. Curry, chairman of the superintendents and temporal head of the Galesburg district. The report covered the range of the Illinois Conference activities during the past year and a comparison with former years. He gave words of praise for the retiring Bishop, J. Ralph Magee, saying, "No man could have given himself more completely to the churches than Bishop Magee."

3½ Inches Of Rain Fall At Glasgow; Fields Soon Drain

Glasgow—A prolonged series of rainstorms, accompanied by an over-dose of thunder and lightning, began here early Monday night and continued at regular intervals until early Tuesday morning.

Local rain gauges measured the total rainfall to about 3½ inches around Glasgow, with a reported four inches in the river bottoms area west of here.

Local creeks overflowed their banks and covered much of the new corn and bean crops along their courses. However, very little damage is expected to these crops as the water soon drained off the fields.

A number of local basements were reported having water in them Tuesday morning and much surface water was still standing in yards and gardens for several hours.

"Mrs. Tucker's Fulfills All Claims" Says Mrs. Harry Clement After Testing in Cake Baking

Mrs. Harry Clement of 355 South Diamond, Jacksonville, recently tested Mrs. Tucker's Shortening in her own birthday cake recipe, and states, "Mrs. Tucker's Shortening fulfills all claims made for it; I used it for cake and found it to be light and fine textured, in fact it turned out to be a perfect cake. I found that the sugar creamed into the shortening quickly and easily, and I really enjoyed using Mrs. Tucker's Shortening."

"I was glad to learn that Mrs. Tucker's offers GUARANTEED CAKE INSURANCE. I understand that anyone can bake a cake with Mrs. Tucker's Shortening, using any recipe that calls for shortening, and if she doesn't agree that her cake is better than any she ever made before, with ANY other shortening... lighter, more tender, moist, finer texture... then all she has to do is send the recipe to Mrs. Tucker's Home-makers Department, Sherman, Texas, telling what she didn't like about the cake, and Mrs. Tucker's will repay her for all the ingredients used, PLUS a dollar for her baking time. I don't know of any other shortening that makes such a guarantee!"

My Little Birthday Cake

Cream together until light and fluffy 1 cup MRS. TUCKER'S Shortening, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla

Add 2 tablespoons at a time, beating after each addition . . . 1½ cups sugar

Sift together three times . . . 2 cups sifted flour, 1½ teaspoons baking powder

Add flour to shortening mixture alternately with . . . ½ cup milk

Beat until stiff, not dry . . . 3 egg whites

Fold into cake mixture

Bake in two 8-inch round layer pans, greased and floured, in a moderate oven (375° F.) for 30 minutes or until done.
